ActOut Summer Camp 2013
A distinctive theatre experience for ages 13-17.

ONE WEEK OPTIONS

Week One: July 15-19 | Week Two: July 22-26

Come for one week, or come for both. Spend each day warming up with theatre games, cycling through classes in acting, directing, playwriting and design, and afternoons working with your ensemble to solve that weeks’ performance challenge. Perform the work you’ve written, staged and designed each week at our Friday Theatre Lab.

One week: $325 | Both weeks: $600

TWO-WEEK INTENSIVE
July 29- August 9

A more focused experience for teens with some theatrical background who are interested in the fun and challenge of creating a full one-act play through an ensemble process. Camp culminates in a ‘world premiere’ of the students’ work on our stage at the Suzanne Roberts Theatre.

Two week intensive: $685

We are grateful for the support of our local businesses; please return the favor!
1959: The American Dream is in overdrive! The possibilities are as boundless as the turnpikes that connect a nation where a gallon of gasoline costs 25 cents, where TV screens beam “Bonanza” and “The Twilight Zone,” and where Paul Anka’s “Lonely Boy,” Bobby Darin’s “Mack the Knife,” and Franky Avalon’s “Venus” top the record charts. This is the year Buddy Holly, Richie Valens, and the Big Bopper die in an airplane crash near Clear Lake, Iowa—and the year Mattel introduces America to Barbie, its newest sweetheart.

In this brief period of peace between the Korean and Vietnam wars, adolescence has been newly defined and packaged, its rites of passage sold as Youth Culture with its own soundtrack. These are “magic changes,” the character named Doody sings, strumming a guitar that is the symbol of emerging teenage freedom and power—even as he pays homage to the 1950s with a distinctive bass and falsetto vocal ornament based on Paul Anka's "Diana."

With music and lyrics by Jim Jacobs and Warren Casey, “Grease” takes its name from the 1950s working-class youth subculture known as the “greasers.” First performed in 1971, in the original Kingston Mines Theatre in Chicago, the musical follows 10 high school students through their senior year, as they sing the changing melodies of friendship, love, sexual exploration, rebellion, and class conflict, united by a common chord. Like adolescence, the songs in “Grease” bridge two worlds: they pose as pop songs but carry a more complicated subtext of social commentary and satire.

One of the longest-running Broadway shows in history (3,388 performances through 1980), “Grease” has been refined over the years by reinterpretation for Broadway and the big screen. The version we present on the Radnor High School stage is similarly shaped by our time and by the particular students who make up our cast. I’ve had a wonderful experience directing these young performers who, as teenagers, are having a blast on the precipice of personal change. I hope you have as much fun watching the show as we’ve had putting it on.
